Website identity
A professional missionary website presenting the history, charism, mission, ministries, formation, leadership, international presence, publications, news and contact information of the Oblate Province of Jaffna.

“He has sent us to evangelize the poor.”

1. Source & Editorial Basis

This document is prepared as the working website blueprint and upload-ready copy for the Oblate Province of Jaffna.

Primary content basis: the supplied 2026 historical/ministry source material, especially pages 43–101, including the sections on history, present ministries, international mission and the concluding “17 Ministries — One Mission” framework.

External verification/reference basis: official OMI Jaffna, OMI World and OMI Colombo Province information previously reviewed for current institutional wording, history and leadership.

Important geographic wording
The website will not describe the Province as serving only “Northern and Eastern Sri Lanka.” The preferred institutional framing is: “The Oblates serve the people of God island-wide and abroad,” with particular attention to Tamil-speaking people and communities across Sri Lanka and to the wider missionary needs of the Church.

Publication check
Historical names, dates and former-provincial chronology will be checked against Province archives before final publication. The current official leadership information will be rechecked whenever the website is updated.

Welcome

Welcome to the Oblate Province of Jaffna, part of the worldwide Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate. The Oblate missionary presence in Sri Lanka began in 1847, and the first Oblates reached Jaffna in 1848. From those beginnings, the mission has grown through pastoral ministry, education, formation, social service, reconciliation, community development and many other forms of accompaniment.

Today, the Oblates continue to serve the people of God island-wide and abroad. With a particular missionary presence among Tamil-speaking people and communities across Sri Lanka, the Province seeks to proclaim the Good News, accompany people in their joys and struggles, and respond to the needs of the Church and society.

Charism

EVANGELIZING THE POOR

The Oblate charism begins with a missionary movement towards people who are poor, abandoned, wounded or pushed to the margins. Evangelization is not limited to words. It becomes presence, accompaniment, education, compassion, justice, reconciliation and service.

Mission

Empowered by the Good News, we work for a healing society in and through the light of the Good News.

Vision

A life towards a renewed, just and free society.

17 Ministries — One Mission

From parishes and schools to youth centres, counselling, rehabilitation, peacebuilding, community development, formation and diaspora ministry, the Province serves in many places and through many forms of missionary presence.

4. ABOUT US

Who We Are

The Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate are a Roman Catholic missionary religious congregation founded by St Eugene de Mazenod. The Oblate vocation is rooted in the proclamation of the Gospel, especially among the poor and those most in need of hope, accompaniment and healing.

The Oblate Province of Jaffna is part of this worldwide missionary family. Its history in Sri Lanka reaches back to 1847, when the first Oblates arrived in Ceylon. In Jaffna, the mission developed through language learning, pastoral presence, education, formation, village ministry and accompaniment of communities through times of peace, suffering and social change.

Our Charism

Evangelizing the poor.

For the Oblate, the poor are not simply people who lack material resources. Poverty can also appear through abandonment, exclusion, displacement, addiction, disability, loneliness, injustice, conflict and loss of hope. Evangelizing the poor therefore means going towards people, listening to them, walking with them and proclaiming the Good News through word and life.

What the Charism Means Today

- Go where people need the Gospel.
- Listen before speaking and accompany before judging.
- Serve people whose dignity is threatened.
- Build communities of faith and hope.
- Promote justice, peace and reconciliation.
- Care for creation and future generations.
- Form young people and future missionaries.
- I have included contemporary media and digital platforms as new missionary spaces.

Mission

Empowered by the Good News, we work for a healing society in and through the light of the Good News.

Vision

A life towards a renewed, just and free society.

5. ST EUGENE DE MAZENOD & OUR HISTORY

St Eugene de Mazenod

Eugene de Mazenod looked at a society marked by poverty, religious decline and social change and refused to remain indifferent. He preached to the poor, accompanied young people, reached prisoners and sought ways to communicate the Gospel in language people could understand.

His missionary conviction was simple and demanding: the Gospel must go out. It must reach people where they are. This missionary spirit became the foundation of the Oblate vocation.

1816 — Missionaries of Provence

In 1816, Eugene de Mazenod and his companions began a missionary community in Aix-en-Provence. They became known as the Missionaries of Provence. Their purpose was to preach the Gospel, evangelize the poor, renew faith, form Christian communities and go wherever the Church needed missionaries.

1826 — Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate

In 1826, Pope Leo XII officially approved the congregation, which became the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate. The name expressed their missionary identity and their belonging to Mary Immaculate.

The Call from Ceylon

Bishop Orazio Bettachini, Vicar Apostolic of Jaffna, travelled to Europe seeking missionaries for the vast mission of northern Ceylon. Eugene de Mazenod accepted the invitation and the Oblates were sent to a new mission field.

The First Four Missionaries

- Fr Étienne Semeria, OMI
- Fr Joseph Alexandre Ciamin, OMI
- Fr Louis Marie Keating, OMI
- Bro Gaspard de Steffanis, OMI

They left Marseille on 21 October 1847. They were leaving their homeland, families and familiar culture to begin a missionary journey across the ocean.

28 November 1847 — Arrival in Ceylon

The first Oblates landed at Galle on 28 November 1847. The missionary journey in Sri Lanka had begun.

Mannar and Mantotte

In the Mannar region, Fr Joseph Ciamin was entrusted with the Mannar–Mantotte–Vanny mission. Beginning his ministry there on 8 February 1848, he faced the challenge of serving Tamil-speaking people without initially knowing the language. Learning to listen, learn and enter the life of the people became a foundational missionary attitude.

10 March 1848 — Arrival in Jaffna

On 10 March 1848, the first group of Oblates reached Jaffna. The missionaries began by learning Tamil, understanding local culture and walking with the people. Jaffna gradually became a central part of the Oblate missionary story.

From Jaffna to the Villages

The mission moved beyond the city into villages, coastal communities and islands, reaching places such as Mannar, Point Pedro and Mullaitivu. Missionaries celebrated Mass, preached, baptized, visited families, taught children, formed catechists and helped establish Christian communities.

Disease, Suffering and Compassion

The early mission encountered poverty, disease, isolation and difficult travel. Epidemics and cholera brought fear and death. Missionaries cared for the sick, accompanied families, buried the dead and consoled those who grieved. Some missionaries themselves became victims of disease. Their witness showed that evangelization must become compassion, presence, service and love.

Education as Evangelization

Education became a major dimension of the Oblate apostolate. Schools, teachers, formation and institutions helped generations gain knowledge, dignity and opportunity. The missionary entered the classroom as teacher, formator, mentor and guide.

Building the Local Church

The Oblates sought not simply to establish foreign institutions but to help the local Church grow. They worked with communities, encouraged vocations, developed pastoral structures, schools and institutions, and contributed to the formation of people and communities of faith.

Times of Crisis

As Sri Lanka experienced political and social change, ethnic tensions, conflict, displacement and loss, the Oblate mission increasingly became a ministry of accompaniment and healing. The missionary vocation called for standing beside people in their pain and helping communities seek hope, dignity, justice, peace and reconciliation.

1988 — Vice Province

The historical development of the Jaffna mission led to its becoming a Vice Province in 1988.

2001 — Independent Province

In 2001, the Oblate Province of Jaffna became an independent Province.

2026 — The Mission Continues

The mission today carries the same missionary heart into new realities: pastoral ministry, education, youth, children, counselling, rehabilitation, peacebuilding, community development, formation, international mission and the digital world.

Administration — Thodarpaham, Jaffna

The first dimension of mission is the service of leadership and administration. From Thodarpaham in Jaffna, the Province coordinates and supports its missionary activities. Administration is not simply about managing an organization. It is about enabling mission.

Mission Preaching — Amathi Aham, Vavuniya

Mission preaching carries the Good News into communities and invites people to renewal. The ministry seeks to make the Gospel accessible through preaching, pastoral presence and accompaniment.

Hospital & Prison Chaplaincy

In hospitals and prisons, the Church reaches people who may feel forgotten or rejected. Chaplaincy communicates a simple message of dignity: people are not forgotten, God has not abandoned them, and no person should be reduced to illness, imprisonment or suffering.

Formal Education

Education has been one of the great contributions of the Oblate mission. The Province's institutions seek not merely to produce successful students, but to form responsible human beings — people of character who can serve society. Education becomes a pathway from poverty to opportunity.

Non-Formal Education

Not everyone has access to conventional education. Non-formal education creates opportunities for learning, skills development, personal growth and social empowerment. Learning can create employment opportunities, restore confidence and open a new future.

Youth Animation

Young people are at the heart of the future. Youth ministry is not simply about organizing programmes; it is about accompanying young people through the challenges of life, helping them discover their gifts and forming them for responsible participation in Church and society.

Children's Animation

Children's ministry creates spaces where children can experience care, formation, protection, friendship and hope. The mission begins by recognizing every child as a person of dignity and possibility.

Parish Ministry

Parish ministry brings together Eucharist, Word, families, children, youth, the sick, sacramental life and Christian community building. The Province currently serves in 12 parishes across Sri Lanka, each a place of worship, accompaniment and missionary service.

Formation of Future Missionaries

Formation prepares young men who discern and prepare for the Oblate vocation. It includes prayer, study, community life, pastoral experience, spiritual direction, human formation, missionary exposure and discernment. The goal is a missionary heart able to listen, forgive, cross cultures and stand beside the poor.

Psycho-Social Counselling

Counselling ministries accompany people who carry psychological wounds, emotional burdens and difficult family or social circumstances. The mission offers listening, support, dignity, spiritual strength and hope.

Care for Persons with Disabilities

Persons living with disabilities deserve dignity, opportunity, participation, respect and a voice. The Oblate mission seeks to stand with people who are often pushed to the margins, recognizing them as persons with gifts, dreams and dignity.

Rehabilitation

The rehabilitation mission accompanies people affected by addiction and social exclusion. Rehabilitation is more than stopping an addiction; it is helping a person rediscover dignity, relationships, responsibility and hope.

Justice, Peace & Reconciliation

Peace is more than the absence of war. It requires justice, dignity, dialogue, forgiveness and reconciliation. The Oblate mission seeks to accompany communities towards healing while recognizing that reconciliation does not mean forgetting the past; it means having the courage to face it and build a different future.

Integrity of Creation

The land, sea, water and environment are part of human life. Environmental damage often affects vulnerable communities first. Caring for creation is therefore part of caring for people and protecting the future.

Spiritual Renewal & Animation

Faith can become routine and communities can become tired. Spiritual renewal helps people rediscover their relationship with God through prayer, retreats, reflection and formation. The goal is renewal of the heart and renewed Christian community life.

Community Development

True development is not simply giving something to people. It means empowering people to discover their own strength, develop opportunities, participate in decisions and build their own future. The missionary walks alongside the community — not above it and not instead of it.

Retired Oblates

Mission does not lose its value when a missionary becomes elderly. Those who have spent decades serving the Church deserve care, dignity and gratitude. Their lives and memories are part of Oblate history.

Oblate Fathers' House

Missionaries spend much of their lives going out to serve, but missionaries also need prayer, fraternity, rest and support. The Colombo Oblate House in Borella provides a community setting where members of the Oblate family can live and continue their shared missionary life.

8. PARISHES & MISSIONARY COMMUNITIES

The Province currently serves in 12 parishes. I have included a searchable parish directory with parish name, location, Mass times and contact details. Current schedules will be published only after confirmation by the responsible parish.

Vocation Page Copy

A missionary vocation is a call to give one's life in service of the Gospel. The Oblate Province accompanies those who discern this call through prayer, study, community life, pastoral experience, spiritual direction and missionary formation.

If you sense a call to missionary life, begin with prayer and conversation. The vocation journey is a process of discernment: discovering where Christ is calling you and learning how your gifts can become a service to others.

10. INTERNATIONAL MISSION

The story of the Province does not end within Sri Lanka. The source identifies Oblates from the Province serving as missionaries in Mexico, Kenya, Denmark, Italy, the United Kingdom, Norway, Australia and Pakistan.

The mission has come full circle. Missionaries once came to Sri Lanka from other countries. Today, Sri Lankan Oblates are also sent to other parts of the world.

Formation Beyond Sri Lanka

- Philippines — ongoing formation
- Australia — formation experience
- Rome — formation experience

Diaspora Chaplaincy

The source identifies diaspora chaplaincy in France. When people migrate, they may carry language, culture, traditions and faith with them. The Church accompanies people far from home, and the missionary can become a bridge between homeland and new homeland.

International identity
Present the Province as part of a universal Oblate family. Use an interactive world map showing current mission countries, but only after the country list and current assignments have been verified.

11. DIGITAL MISSION & MEDIA

The first Oblates had no television, radio, internet, smartphones or social media. Yet they faced the same missionary question: how do we reach people with the Gospel? Today, the digital world is another missionary field.

The church building remains a mission field. The village remains a mission field. The school and hospital remain mission fields. The smartphone screen, social media, video and digital storytelling are also mission fields.

Digital mission principle

12. NEWS, EVENTS & PUBLICATIONS

News & Events

The News & Events section will be a living record of Province activities. Every post will include a clear title, date, location, short summary, photographs and, where appropriate, a contact person.

21. CLOSING WEBSITE MESSAGE

The story is not finished. The mission continues.

From the first Oblate missionaries who crossed the ocean in 1847 to the many missionaries, communities and collaborators serving today, the journey has always been about the same Gospel: bringing Christ's hope to people, especially the poor, abandoned and wounded.

Many places. Many people. Many needs. One Gospel. One Christ. One missionary spirit.

22.6 Contact Data Rules for the Live Website

- I have used the supplied contact lists as the source for Oblate names and phone information.
- I have used the supplied Excel sheet as the source for additional mobile numbers and email addresses.
- Do not create an email address from a person's name when the source does not provide one.
- Where two sources contain different phone numbers, show the number approved by the Province after verification rather than silently choosing one.
- I will maintain a private master contact database and publish only the fields approved for public contact.
- The website contact cards will provide Call, WhatsApp (only where officially approved), Email and Directions buttons.
- Every contact card will include a Last Verified field.
- The directory will include Oblate-name search and optional filters for parish, house, ministry or location.

- Phone numbers will use tel: links and emails will use mailto: links.
- I have included accessible map alternatives so visitors can find contacts without using the map.

22.7 Contact Card Format

OBLATE NAME
Phone: +94 XX XXX XXXX
Email: name@example.com
Last verified: DD Month YYYY

Buttons: CALL | EMAIL | GET DIRECTIONS

22.8 Privacy & Safeguarding Note

Because this directory contains personal mobile numbers and email addresses, I have included a privacy and safeguarding requirement: every individual contact must be approved before publication. Private numbers or emails intended only for internal use will not be displayed. Contact information for children, vulnerable persons and sensitive pastoral situations will never be publicly displayed.

23. VISUAL PREVIEW — UPDATED WEBSITE

These previews show the visual direction of the updated OMI Jaffna website after implementation. I have prepared the layout around the updated content, 12 parishes, 17 ministries and unified contact/map concept. The live website will use the Province's approved logo, real photographs and final brand assets.
